

Fact Sheet

WHO

For Indigenous youth (First Nations, Métis and Inuit) between the ages of 13-18, residing in the province of Ontario.

WHAT

The OSIG provides Indigenous youth with the opportunity to compete at a provincial level, while developing their sport specific skills. The Games also act as an identifier for athletes who aspire to compete at the North American Indigenous Games, and a pathway leading to other national and international sport competitions.

WHERE

The 2022 OSIG will take place in Ottawa, Ontario, Canada's capital city and home to the Algonquin Peoples who have inhabited the lands since time immemorial.

WHEN

Thursday, July 28 – Sunday, July 31, 2022

WHY

The OSIG are an important step in the sport development pathway for Indigenous youth. From a sport perspective, the OSIG provides an opportunity for high-performance athlete development, athlete talent identification, and sport specific training and preparation for participation in the North American Indigenous Games and other national and provincial competitions.